2.4i Low level concerns

We understand that the term a 'low-level is any concern – no matter how small, and even if no more than causing a sense of unease or a 'nagging doubt' – that an adult working in or on behalf of the school may have acted in a way that:

- is inconsistent with the staff code of conduct, including inappropriate conduct outside of work; and
- does not meet the allegations threshold or is otherwise not considered serious enough to consider a referral to the LADO.'

We are aware that it is our duty to deal with all concerns about all adults working in or on behalf of the school promptly and appropriately. It is critical that all concerns are shared with the Headteacher, recorded and dealt with appropriately.

We need to ensure that at all times adults working in or on behalf of the school are clear about professional boundaries and that they act within these. Any concerning, problematic or inappropriate behaviour that is identified and reported minimises the risk of abuse. We believe the following behaviour needs to be brought to the attention of the Headteacher:

- being over friendly with children;
- having favourites;
- taking photographs of children on their mobile phone;
- engaging with a child on a one-to-one basis in a secluded area or behind a closed door; or

- self-refer if they find themselves in a situation which:
 - could be misinterpreted;
 - might appear compromising to others;
 - on reflection they believe they have behaved in such a way that they consider falls below the expected professional standards.
- be aware that all low-level concerns must be:
 - recorded in writing and include:
 - details of the concern
 - the context in which the concern arose
 - the action taken
 - the name of the individual sharing their concerns

An eating disorder such as anorexia nervosa or bulimia nervosa is when someone eats in such a way that puts their physical or mental health at risk. School personnel have an important role to play in identifying pupils with eating disorders and in supporting those who are suffering from or recovering from an eating disorder as we realise an eating disorder is not about issues with food but is a mechanism for coping with emotional distress.

Eating disorders are more common in girls than boys and can affect anyone regardless of their age, sex or cultural background. Educational visits should carry on as they offer an invaluable opportunity to enrich young peoples' learning, raise their self esteem, increase their motivation and appetite for learning and raise levels of achievement in many aspects of their life and education.

Schools must have in place pre-visit risk assessments and school personnel trained in safeguarding procedures in order to ensure pupils' safety and to cover all eventualities such as high-profile terrorist threats when visiting such places as London. School personnel must also be trained in dealing with pupils' concerns about heightened security procedures such as armed police/soldiers on the streets

2.16 E-Safety

As part of their learning experience across all curricular areas pupils have a right to quality Internet access. The use of the Internet is an invaluable tool in the development of lifelong learning skills.

Used correctly Internet access will not only raise standards, but it will support teacher's professional work and it will enhance the school's management information and business administration systems

The increased provision of the Internet in and out of school brings with it the need to ensure that learners are safe. Pupils need to know how to evaluate Internet information and to take care of their own safety and security.

It is essential that pupils are safeguarded from potentially harmful and inappropriate online material. There are many online safeguarding issues that can be categorised into four areas of risk:

Content:	Being exposed to illegal, inappropriate or harmful material such as pornography, fake news, racism, misogyny, self-harm, suicide, anti-Semitism, radicalisation and extremism.
Contact:	Being subjected to harmful online interaction with other users such as peer-to-peer pressure, commercial advertising and adults posing as children or young adults with the intention to groom or exploit them for sexual, criminal, financial or other purposes.

Conduct:	Personal online behaviour that increases the likelihood of, or causes, harm such as making, sending and receiving explicit images.
Commerce:	Risk such as online gambling, inappropriate advertising, phishing and of financial scams

(Amended from 'Keeping children safe in education') Updates for KCSIE 2023 include more filtering and monitoring.

E-Safety, which encompasses Internet technologies and electronic communications, will educate pupils about the benefits and risks of using technology and provides safeguards and awareness to enable them to control their online experience.

2.20 Knife Crime

Knife crime is an increasing safeguarding risk to children both at school and in their local communities. Schools alone cannot solve knife crime but they do have a role to play in helping to prevent knife crime becoming part of children's lives.

Knife crime is a term commonly used to refer to street based knife assaults and knife carrying.

Knife crime has a huge impact on children and the communities in which they live, and not just in London but nationally. Knife crime is a societal problem and no single agency, including schools, can solve knife crime on its own.

Schools have a role to play in stopping knife crime becoming part of children's lives by identifying, supporting, helping and protecting children on the school site and to teach them about the dangers of knives and related dangers. But in order to overcome this problem and to protect children all support agencies, parents/carers and social media need to work together.

If in the case of an emergency permission has been given then the phone must be handed into the school office on the arrival of the child to school. Parents will be contacted immediately if a child breaks this rule and will be asked to collect the mobile phone from the school office.

Pupils are encouraged to achieve in a learning environment where self-discipline is promoted and good behaviour is the norm. Any form of low-level misbehaviour during lessons is not accepted as we believe pupils will achieve their full potential in a happy, stimulating and ordered school environment.

All forms of corporal punishment which has been defined as 'the use of physical force causing pain, but not wounds, as a means of discipline' is banned.

The use of reasonable force can be used to control or restrain pupils in order to prevent personal injury, damage to property or the prevention of a criminal offence being committed but not as a means of disciplining pupils.

2.30 Safe Physical Contact with Pupils

Schools must reassure school personnel that there are occasions when it is entirely appropriate, proper and legal for school personnel to have physical contact with pupils, but it is crucial that they only do so in ways appropriate to their professional role.

The DFE document 'Use of Reasonable Force' clearly states that it is "not illegal to touch a pupil. There are occasions when physical contact, other than reasonable force, with a pupil is proper and necessary. Examples of where touching a pupil might be proper or necessary: holding the hand of the child at the front/back of the line when going to assembly or when walking together around the school; when comforting a distressed pupil; when a pupil is being congratulated or praised; to demonstrate how to use a musical instrument; to demonstrate exercises or techniques during PE lessons or sports coaching; to give first aid."

It is impractical to have in place a 'no touch' policy. School personnel should be allowed to respond to the needs of pupils at any time. The contact should be of limited duration, appropriate to the pupil's age, stage of development, gender, ethnicity and background. In most schools appropriate physical contact occurs most often with younger pupils or pupils with special educational needs and disabilities. At all times school personnel must use their professional judgement.

School personnel must record in the school incident book and inform the Designated Safeguarding Lead of any action undertaken by themselves that may be misinterpreted in anyway.

2.47 Remote Learning

Remote learning is where the student (s) and the educator are not physically present in a traditional classroom environment with information being relayed through technology.

Remote teaching is determined by many of the same factors as determine the effectiveness of live classroom teaching.' Factors such as:

- ensuring pupils receive clear explanations
- supporting growth in confidence with new material through scaffolded practice
- application of new knowledge or skills
- enabling pupils to receive feedback on how to progress

It is very important to continue to teach all or most of the planned curriculum. However, subjects such as science, music and technology can prove challenging. In regard to physical education, we encourage pupils to take regular physical exercise to maintain fitness.
